Three small journeys. One clear purpose.

Storyboard · Read each row left to right. Frame numbers refer to the wireframe boards.

A / First deck on iPhone

“I found Schwanki. Can I use my Anki cards here?”

01

Discover & enter

A clear promise and one account. Existing learners skip import.

03

Know what comes over

Preview decks, then import. Progress and exceptions stay visible.

04 → 05 → 06

→

04

Start reviewing

Own cards in the feed. Reveal first; buttons explain the ratings.

07 → 08

B / A quiet daily habit

“I have a moment. Let me get through a few words.”

01

Open straight to a word

No dashboard or setup between the learner and the next due card.

07

→

02

Reveal, then rate

Tap to reveal. Use named buttons or optional swipes.

08

→

03

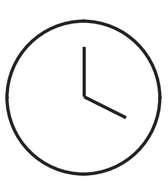

Leave whenever

Every rating saves before advancing. Resume with the answer hidden.

07 / next card

→

04

On your terms

Finish without a detour

Show caught-up state. Offer an optional reminder after value.

10 → 11

C / Trust across devices

“I lost signal. Did my review still count?”

01

Keep reviewing offline

Previously saved cards work. Status says what is on this phone.

14

→

02

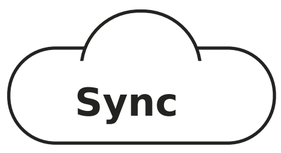

Stop honestly at the edge

Exhausted cache is different from having no cards due.

15

→

03

Reconnect & sync

Queued ratings upload automatically. Failures retain retry work.

04

Continue on the web

Same account, same cards. Extra tools are explained and linked.

13

Bring your deck. Get to the first word.

01–06 / First use and Anki import · Native Files and provider login remain system-owned surfaces.
